Broughton Anglican College

Broughton Anglican College partnered with Sebel to develop multiple spaces aimed to create flexible, student-centered environments that support different learning styles and encourage staff and student feedback.

Sebel collaborated closely with the school leaders to design two versatile spaces featuring a mix of seating heights, movable furniture and varied layouts. The spaces allow for both group collaboration and more private, focused learning – giving students choice and ownership of how they learn.

- Range of seating heights to support posture and engagement
- Reconfigurable furniture for adaptable learning setups
- Options for both collaborative and independent work

The updated spaces now function to encourage feedback and future planning. Staff and students are actively engaging with the environments, helping to shape the rollout of flexible, effective learning spaces across the school.
